From: John Nelson
To: Jennifer Dunbar
Date: June 4, 2024
Subject: A name idea for your new black kitten

Dear Ms. Dunbar,

Hello, I'm a high school student and a big fan of your video channel. Go Give an Effective Presentation. I've watched every video you have posted since I discovered your channel half a year ago. I've learned a lot from your channel, and my presentation skills have improved thanks to your clear explanations—to such an extent that my teacher often praises me for my abilities! Of course, I'm also a big fan of your partner, Nezu. Seeing him sitting or sleeping next to you while you're talking is so interesting.

That said, let me [27]. In the latest video (#53), you introduced another black cat you recently adopted from an animal shelter. You said you were taking ideas for her name from the audience. I want to suggest the name "Nod" because, in the video, she sometimes moved her head while you were explaining, which looked like she was nodding to you—as if she were saying yes. I hope you'll like this name!

Sincerely yours,
John Nelson

Subject: Re: A name idea for your new black kitten

Dear John,

Thanks for watching my channel. I'm so happy to hear that my videos have been helpful to you.

I truly appreciate you taking the time to suggest a name for my kitten. It means a lot to me. That's a good name, and I like it. [28]. I got an email from another fan, and he proposed the same name! I was very surprised.

I've received so many suggestions from the audience that it's really hard to choose. All of the names are great!

In any case, I promise I'll announce it in my next video. The video will be posted within a few days, so don't miss it!

Thanks,
Jennifer

From: George Flynn
To: Thelma Flynn
Date: August 13, 2024
Subject: Hi, Thelma

My dear niece,

I'm sorry I couldn't answer the phone, Thelma. I was busy with moving to a new city. Yes, I did, finally! I left Skeffington City, where I had lived for more than ten years and moved into a new apartment in Longfellow City. As you know, the central part of my new city has many tourist spots, such as Kingstone Ruins, Parmer Valley, and Rollins Bridge. I live in the suburbs, so it would [27] to get to those spots. Still, it's great for me to be able to visit them within an hour by train if I want to.

Thanks for leaving a voice message on my phone. I just listened to it. I was surprised to hear you are going to have an art exhibition at the famous Randolph Museum! I believe that was one of your lifelong dreams, right? Congratulations! I want to see my niece's proud works there, but I can't make it this time because of my restaurant business. By the way, I purchased a new book of your paintings. I look at it every single day and think about your great future ahead.

Peace,
George

My dear uncle,

Thanks for sending me an email, and I really appreciate your support! You have always been [28] since I was a kid. You have cheered me up at every opportunity. Thanks to you, I'm now making steady progress towards my goal.

You left that apartment building! I remember the day when I went to your apartment three or four years ago, and we talked until morning.

I have a friend who lives in Longfellow and works as a local guide. She says it's a great place to live. I think you made the right choice!

I'll be in touch with you soon.

Love,
Thelma

Masa and Helen are chatting at a cafe.

Masa: Yesterday, I visited my older brother's apartment. He has just started living on his own after entering university.
Helen: Is his place near the university?
Masa: It's no more than two minutes from the university campus.
Helen: Sounds too close to me. .
Masa: Why?
Helen: Because it will become a hang-out for his friends.
Masa: "Hang-out?" ?
Helen: It means a place where people tend to go when they are free. Personally, I don't want my house to be a hang-out for my friends. I need alone time, you know?
Masa: I see. But he seems satisfied because he can get to his morning classes quickly. I hear first-period classes start at 9:00 a.m., but he said he can even if he wakes up at 8:50 a.m.
Helen: I see. I guess he's not a morning person then. Anyway, ?
Masa: Well, it's just one room, which is not as large as his old bedroom in our house. But it still has enough space since he didn't take his extensive book collection with him. Plus, he doesn't have much furniture now.
Helen: I hope your brother enjoys his student life. By the way, your cup is empty. Do you want another coffee? I'm thinking of ordering another cup of tea myself.
Masa: . I'll have one more cup. Let's order together.

From: Iris Sanchez
 To: Barry Turner
 Date: October 22, 2024
 Subject: I'd like to attend your workshop

Dear Dr. Turner,

Hello. My name is Iris Sanchez. I'm a freshman at Arrowsmith University, majoring in German literature. I especially like German novels from the 19th century and hope to get a translation job someday.

I'm sending this email to you [27] one of my close friends here told me about your website and urged me to reach out to you. His name is Ted. He has taken part in your translation workshops several times, and he said each of them was very useful and well worth paying the $50 fee. I desperately want to participate in one of your workshops.

I checked the workshop dates on your website. The earliest workshop is scheduled for October 29. I would like to participate in it to learn the essence of translating German into English. How would I go about registering for the workshop?

I'm looking forward to your reply.

Sincerely yours,
 Iris Sanchez

From: Barry Turner
 To: Iris Sanchez
 Date: October 24, 2024
 Subject: Re: I'd like to attend your workshop

Dear Ms. Sanchez,

Thank you for your email. It's a pleasure to connect with Ted's friend! His enthusiasm for German literature is inspiring; I'm sure you share that passion.

But [28]. Unfortunately, the upcoming workshop has reached capacity. However, the following one scheduled for November 15th still has openings. This workshop will focus on a particular section of Goethe's "Faust." Participants will learn about German Romanticism and its influence on literature. Given your interest in German literature, this workshop could be an excellent opportunity to go deeper and connect with others. I'd appreciate it if you'd consider attending. You can register for it on my website.

Just for your information, that's the last one I'm going to hold this year, and for the moment, I'm not sure of my schedule in 2025. I will be updating my website with this information soon.

Thanks,
 Barry Turner
